First Educo-Gym opens in Parker CO
And Is The First In The U.S.

Educogym Ltd, a Jersey-based international franchise, announces the opening of its Educo-Gym™ in Parker, CO, the first to open in the US. Franchise owners David and Tracie Halter opened the Parker location in July 2006.

Educo-Gym™ offers its clients a breakthrough in rejuvenation with a new university-researched technology that reverses the effects of aging, burns fat and helps regain firm, figure-shaping muscle.

“From its beginning in Ireland, the worldwide expansion of Educo-Gym™ will accomplish a revolution in our whole approach to health and aging,” said Dr. Martin Forde ND DO, President, Irish Association of Holistic Medicine and Director of Training, Educogym Ltd.

To date, Educogym Ltd. is on target with its business goals. “Just this year alone we have opened up numerous gyms worldwide, in Ireland, the UK, South Africa, Central America and USA.” said Thurston Pym, Business Development Manager for Educogym Ltd.

“We are extremely excited to bring this venture to Parker, and to the U.S.,” said David Halter. “There isn’t anything available in this market that comes close to the proven results offered by the Educo-Gym™ system.”

Educo-Gym™ is a holistic personal training studio without registration fees or membership dues. The flagship Educo-Gym™ offering is a 12-day university-researched program specifically designed to reverse and prevent the aging process. The program includes special anti-ageing dietary supplements, a mind training CD and two free Educo-Gym™ training sessions.

Six week conditioning programs are also offered as well as body sculpting and posture realignment programs. All programs include a free body consultation that consists of measurements, body fat calculations, and weight and nutritional education.
